Acrostic poems are written and read horizontally; the new word that the acrostic poem creates is read vertically. Structures of acrostic poems allow a writer to choose how to structure the poem, such as an acrostic name poem. An acrostic poem for your name, Lisa, could be:

I is for lovable
Your actions and words
E is for impeccable
You strive to excel
S is for sweet
The little things you do
A is for aggressive
You strive to win
See more.

An acrostic poem is a poem in which certain letters in each line vertically spell out a word or phrase. Typically, the first letters of a line are used to spell the message. An acrostic name poem starts each new line with a letter from a name. By the end of the poem, Romans 12:2 states, “And do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewing of your mind that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.”

Technology flows across processors, creating surges of electricity inside our circuitry. God fills us with power. I dreamt singular seconds in times. I held you sacredly tenderly nestling you along dark paths. My soul illuminated footsteps rejuvenating.

Fat Pat Limerick
There once was a boy named Pat
He ate too much and became fat
Pat was lazy and never
Her poems enchant but its virulent tools
She takes in her body
I last saw her in Santiago
A slaved two-faced pretender
Who sings like a nightingale
In suburban dives
She postrates to friendly pats
And gropes melting creeps
And hot tigers begging subs
For a heady drink
Brilliant yet blindsided to
On knees as her children will too.
