How to make a development plan? Whether your aim is to be famous or simple business plan be successful in your chosen career setting up a development plan should always be a part of the business plan. Examples in PDF.

Step 1: Consider your goals. This is the most important part and for me the first in the steps to create a development plan. Creating an individual development plan (IDP) will help you prepare for your future regardless of the career you're planning on. In an IDP, you outline a vision for your career and set goals to capitalize on your strengths and address your development needs.
An Individual Development Plan (IDP) is an employee development tool that identifies activities that will help you enhance your knowledge, skills, and abilities by improving performance, sharpening professional competencies, and preparing you for positions of changing or greater responsibility. An IDP is a tool to assist employees in career and personal development. Its primary purpose is to help employees reach short and long-term career goals as well as improve current job performance. An IDP is not a performance evaluation tool or a one-time activity; it should be looked at like a partnership between the employee and their supervisor.

An IDP is essentially a planning document that identifies what your goals and objectives are for the upcoming year. Although there are many different ways to create an IDP, it can be broken into three main steps:

1. Identify your goals.
